

Trevor and Stephanie (Giving)

Trevor and I made our pledge for the building program and it represented a substantial increase over our current giving, so that we didn't even know where that money would come from. Just after that, we started really looking into our finances and were realizing that we didn't even know if we could stick within our budget for the rest of this school year (before we even start giving to our pledge) with the bills that have come. I was getting discouraged, thinking, we just made our pledge and now things are looking worse, not better! But, sure enough, God is providing some very unexpected extra income! I just got a job teaching a student who is unable to go to school because of a medical condition and have started tutoring him already. The school pays me very well for this job! Still, you would think I would learn, I was continuing to worry about our finances and finally handed it over to God and told Him I was expecting Him to provide. Later that same day, Trevor mentioned how it would be nice if we could make some extra income this summer. I said how I'd love to do more tutoring, but then we both thought "but that won't happen during the summer". Just an hour or so later, I got a phone call from a parent about teaching her son science during guess when - the summer! Apparently the guidance office at school is giving out my name and number and I didn't even know it. It is so cool how God works! He is so faithful!
